

UMAIRA is not used to quiet people.

"I find them boring," she explains.

But she has her quiet moments.

"It's when I'm very tired from not having enough rest, or when I'm having problems with my loved ones.

"But I'm still a loud and crazy girl at heart."

Perhaps it's during her quiet moments that some people assume that she is arrogant.

"They tell me I don't have a friendly face.

"But once they know me well enough, they will say that I'm a very crazy girl."

20 Things about Umaira

I'm happy and satisfied with what I have right now.

I think I'm very noisy, talkative and loud.

I'm very friendly and I love to make friends.

My hair is the most attractive thing about me. It's short and edgy.

My feet are ugly. My toes are not even.

I won't go on a blind date. I'm afraid that I won't be attracted to the other person.

I'm not a romantic person but I enjoy romantic dinners.

The best pick up line is "I like you, you're gorgeous!". It flatters me.

Black and yellow are my favourite colours. The combination matches me: I have a stern face but a cheerful personality.

I'm gullible.

I love music which has a lot of drums and bass in it, like the dance-music group Safri Duo.

I cried when I watched P.S. I Love You. The lead character was so sweet. You don't find guys like him in Singapore.

I just love food. My favourite is sirloin steak, done medium-well.

I'm happy when I get to see my dad because I love him a lot.

I cry if I see animals being abused, especially cats.

I simply love beaches – the sand and the sunset.

I want to live in Bali. I've been there before and the pace of life is slower and more relaxing.

I'd rather SMS. It's too tiring to hold on to the phone receiver.

Clubbing boosts my energy.

Sky-diving or bungee jumping is not for me. I have a fear of heights.
